The Nuffield Foundation is a charitable trust established in 1943 by William Morris, Lord Nuffield. It aims to improve social well-being by funding research and innovation projects in education and social policy, and building research capacity in science and social science.

With an outdated SharePoint site running on an internal server, the Foundation asked HG Technology to implement a cloud-hosted site with similar content and navigation, but an updated design. We worked with their internal IT team to deliver a solution that was hosted externally to allow improved security, and an improved disaster recovery process.

Our focus was on creating a modern-looking site that was easier to navigate than the previous one and had a user-friendly structure. By applying Artificial Intelligence to their business processes, we were able to reduce the amount of time spent on routine tasks, saving a great deal of resources and freeing up valuable time for their internal staff.

The design included features from applications included within the Office 365 suite such as Microsoft Flow, SharePoint's list and document management features, and SharePoint Security.
