

“ HG Technology implemented for our Munich office an online repository for all our documents. Now everything is safe and collaboration easy. The technical implementation was impeccable as well as their guidance through the entire process while simultaneously dealing with a change in our local support. ”

Andreas Koch
Medical Director
Leadiant GmbH

Leadiant GmbH based in Munich provide rare disease drugs to the European Union. Leadiant needed an on line solution for the storage of their files to move away from an office bound file server with an additional requirement for online data storage to assist in the management of contract information.

HG Technology helped to implement SharePoint online working with each department to define requirements and then built document management and data systems appropriate for each business area. There was a cultural change from a folder mentality to a tagging based system.

One area that was specifically developed was a contract management system that incorporates a coloured status Indicator for at a glance understanding of the state of each contract. This is linked through to the actual legal agreements also securely stored on-line.
